In my three(3) days observation at West Central Elementary School I was a great experienced I ever had in Field Study. The teachers, principal, students, parents and even the school staffs is very accommodating. All I can say that this is the best because it taught me a lot of things. Just like about classroom management, assessment tools use to teach, building rapport to students, to fellow teachers, higher authorities and to school personnel. In this report will show how the teacher being fair and responsible when it comes to her profession and my experiences for 3 days observation.

My cooperating teacher teaches her students how to greet the visitors and how to show respect to them by saying “masantos ya kabwasan ed sikayo madam” and doing the “pagmamano” all the time they see their teacher. It made me more realized that in their generation not all the students has bad attitude because there's still a good and respectful students just like the students I've been observed in that school. In my first day, the classroom catch my attention because it is well ventilated which the students can study well. This is what I really like in my first day observation because that is what every students need in order to be more comfortable while learning/studying. I also observed that she helps her students to read. She do the oral reading to every students especially those who can't read and sound alphabets properly. While her practice teacher is teaching, she calls on students one by one and come to her and read. I can really say that my cooperating teacher is very approachable and she is one of a kind that every observer like me will surely like and love to be with. For my second day observation, the relevant experiences I've experienced is that my cooperating teacher likes someone who works initiatively that you do that without her asking for you to do that. And for me, I really want to do what I can and not only as an observer. It melts my heart because even in a small way I can she appreciated it. We always clean before and after the class and while cleaning the classroom, she advices me and even her practice teacher about the classroom management, we should always listen to what is our need for the improvement and what are the adjustment when it comes in teaching. Especially when we are already in field it will be more hard for us because you teach students and at the same time you do paper works as a teacher. My cooperating teacher teaches us to always listen and not be afraid if someone said you're not good at teaching. The next she said really gives us motivation is “Ang marunong makinig malayo ang paroroonan/mararating”. And for my last day observation, makes me 50% happy and 50% sadness for the reason that I know that it will be my last day in that classroom. She ask me and even her practice teacher if how's our day. In that question I appreciated my cooperating teacher because she knows how to socialize and how to handle the people she's being with. That made me realized that being a teacher you should build rapport not only for the students, fellow teachers, principal, parents but also to the people you are being with. Before I go on my last day she said to me that "Dito kana sa akin mag practice teaching ha" and that makes me more overwhelmed. I felt like she has a trust in me that I will be able to be a good teacher someday just like what she said to me in my evaluation form. My comment when it comes in classroom management was excellent for me because she knows how to handle her students. Once she said "akin walay narereneglel kon maingal" the students will stop talking. She also said to me that I should not give my full attention or force just to please students to stop. She said that I just need to give a strong voice to fear and catch the attention of students to stop talking loudly. Because if I just shout all the time to the students they'll become immune about it and they don't care anymore. Moreover, you will be the one to get stressed for always shouting just to make them quiet. When it comes to assessment tools she has the PowerPoint presentation which flashed on the T.V. I can say that this is the most used especially right now in our generation is already 21st century. But then, she also used manila paper as an alternative. The behavior of my cooperating teacher one thing is for sure, she is one of a kind for me. She is passionate to her profession and she knows how to do for those people surrounded by her. Like she kept on talking to them and she is very close to every one of them. She knows how to handle every situations in a good and better ways. Her relationship to her fellow teachers was strong because I observed that every recess, lunch and every after classes they always bond and eat together. For the principal I didn't really saw much of them but on the first day of observation I observed that they have a good relationship together because of the way they talked. To the school personnel she says to her students to buy foods to the person who is selling foods. She is close to them also because I saw the way she treated and heard the way she talked to them politely. And for her students, she build rapport to them because they're comfortable with her. In that case, her students likes to talk to her and what I liked about the students they gave food to their teacher. For the students' parents, I observed that they are also closed to my cooperating teacher for the reason that they talked about their child, they ask the teacher how is their daughter/son inside the classroom. And I think that is important for the teacher and parent to communicate on how is their child. Because by this help, it can monitor the knowledge, attitudes, abilities of the students. The methodologies and strategies of my cooperating teacher is not that too strong and also not that too weak. That's what I said because I didn't exactly saw the specific but what I knew and believed is that in everything she did was completely effective to her students.

In general, I observed that my cooperating teacher teaches her students to be respectful not only for the teachers but also to their classmates because even though they just knew me in my first day there they showed me already how respectful and thoughtful they are. This is one of my relevant experiences because in our generation right now some students forgot how to give and how to show respect. So, I salute to my cooperating teacher for teaching right values to her students. Everything she said to me was on my mind and also in my heart. Because this is the first time I've experienced that my cooperating teacher gives advices, share knowledge and share her experiences in teaching. That is also what I've learned to my cooperating teacher to be approachable, don't be shy, be friendly and do not be afraid about judgement because this will help us to grow more. Every negative we received or heard is not totally a negative for us but this will lift us up and improve ourself more better and be the best version of us. I got to realized more how I wanted to become a good and best teacher someday. Because every time I entered the classroom I felt inside my heart that this is my second home. I really appreciated my cooperating teacher for being kind to me and for all the advices that she said and shared. I will surely bring and hold this until I became a Licensed Professional Teacher.
