Teaching is a very noble profession that shapes the character, caliber, and future of an individual. I was assigned to observe in Bonuan Boquig Elementary School. My 3 days observation was really amazing. I've really enjoyed being with children's and the very welcoming atmosphere. On my first day I was really nervous and at the same time I was really excited to observe. Being a future educator this observation really helps us to be a good educator in the future. I always put in my best effort to show to my Cooperating Teacher my best in everything I did inside and outside the classroom. When we're in the Principal's office we feel nervous, everyone was so quiet and after a little bit the assistant of the Ma'am Principal assigned us to every teacher.

So finally I was assigned to observe the Grade 1-Rose, the advisory of Ma'am Mariel M. Dulay. When I entered the classroom of Ma'am Mariel I saw the very energetic kids. They gave me a warm welcome on the first day of my observation. On my first day, I greeted Ma'am Mariel and Ma'am Mariel allowed me to introduce myself in front of the children and I saw their faces smiling while I was introducing myself. I've felt that they are excited to know who I am and why I am in the classroom. When I finished introducing myself, some children went to me and asked me "teacher na po kayo?", "taga-saan po kayo?" and "teacher Angelica dito na po ba kayo?". When the children started talking to me I felt so happy and very welcome. They treated me as their teacher. This Field Study Observation makes me feel like a true educator. I don't know but when children's called me "Teacher Angelica" I felt like I was on cloud 9. In my 3 days observation I always put in my mind that I need to give all my best not only to my students but also to myself. These observations lead to a successful and effective teacher. It also gives an idea on how or what the public school is. It made me realize that as a teacher it's really important to know your students, know their strengths and weaknesses, and understand their capabilities and personality. As a teacher also you need to have knowledge of your students and build a rapport with them. To my Cooperating Teacher I observed that she has a good relationship with her students. They treated Ma'am Mariel as their Mother. I saw how sweet the kids are. They are always hugging and kissing Ma'am Mariel. While staring at Ma'am Mariel I said "sana all, sana kapag naging ganap na guro na din ako ganyan din mga estudyante ko". I know it's a normal feeling, like I am hoping that someday I feel what Ma'am Mariel feels and experience with her students. I felt so special when my Grade 1-Rose started giving me drawings and letters. Everytime they give me drawings and letters I smile and I feel so “kilig”.

In my observation I've noticed that Ma'am Mariel was so innovative. She must be innovative in order for her to have a successful teaching and provide good learning to her students. I love how she delivers her lessons, the strategies and the IM's or instructional materials she uses. When I entered the classroom the first thing that I noticed was that Ma'am Mariel had a good relationship with her students. I know that building a good relationship with your students is really important. It also reflects the learning of students. When the children have a positive environment it will motivate them to learn. The students learn better when they are part of a supportive community of learners. My Cooperating Teacher always makes her students feel comfortable and safe inside and outside the classroom. I saw how she cares for her students. I really believed now that a teacher is not only a teacher but they are also a mother/father, singer, dancer, photographer, actor, clown or comedian and also a doctor. When I started my Field Study Observation, it is true that teachers make all other professions possible. Just like Ma'am Mariel, when she is discussing the lesson she becomes an actor when there is a situation related to the lesson, she sings and also she dances. I love the way she teaches her students. She used appropriate strategies and techniques to deliver her lessons. I observed that Ma'am Mariel had mastery of the lesson that is why her students learn better and adapt the lesson properly. One more thing that I love is that Ma'am Mariel uses visual aids that improves students' understanding, serves as their notes and facilitates more eye contact. I noticed how flexible she is. The most attractive thing that Ma'am Mariel did is that she used the remedial hour to teach how to write and read to the students. My Cooperating Teacher does this because there is a rule that “no read, no move”. So because of this I saw how strong and dedicated Ma'am Mariel is. I believe that as a teacher it's really important to have a long patient. I also saw how Ma'am Mariel disciplined her students properly. In my 3 days observation I also noticed that Ma'am Mariel has good communication with the parents. I love seeing them talking about the progress of each learner.

I've learned a lot during my Field Study Observation. It's an honor for me to be a student at the University of Pangasinan. PHINMA gives as an opportunity to learn teaching styles or strategies, and knows the diversity of learners, schools and the teachers and it leads to growth as a future educator. All my experiences and memories during my observation will always remain. I am forever thankful to Bonuan Boquig Elementary School for giving us an opportunity to observe. Thank you for molding us to be a good and effective teacher someday. To Ma'am Mariel, thank you for always giving your best in front of your students, always dedicating your love, time and passion in creating the best people in the world. I saw how compassionate you are. You are always helping your students become the very best version of themselves. Thank you also for being kind to me. I'll admire you, Ma'am Mariel. To my Grade 1-Rose, you have a big impact on my heart. I was crying during my last day. Your hugs and kisses make me feel so important and loved. You treated me as your teacher. On my last day, Ma'am Mariel gave me an opportunity to say goodbye to my students. When I started walking in front I felt so sad because it was our last day in Bonuan Boquig Elementary School. When I was in front, I started saying my final message/goodbye to my Grade 1-Rose. While I'm speaking some of my students come in front and hug and kiss me that is why my tears fall. I've been thinking that "ganon na nila ako kamahal kahit 3 days lang nila akong kasama". I was really sad to hear that from "teacher na po kayo"?, "taga-saan po kayo"? and "Teacher Angelica dito na po kayo"? to "saan na po kayo pupunta"?, "bakit po kayo aalis?", "Teacher Angelica kailan po kayo babalik"? I am thankful for these children who always put smiles on my face. I love you kids, keep going and continue learning. To the beloved Principal, Dr. Agnes T. Calicdan, thank you so much, thank you for the warm welcome. This Field Study Observation made me start appreciating my progress and loving my capabilities. Thank you University of Pangasinan for giving me this opportunity to grow as a person and leading me to one avenue to learn.
