1. What are the relevant experiences you gained during the 3-day observation period in your respective cooperating schools?

We conducted a Field Study Deployment, which started on February 27 to March 1, 2023. Our group was assigned to observe classes at Juan P. Guadiz Elementary School. The School Principal was assigned me in Grade 5 Masigasig class under Mrs. Wennie S. Benitez.

In my 3 days observation period, I gained a lot of realizations about the realistic view of teaching. Teaching is indeed a noblest profession because teachers do not only teach and impart knowledge, but also inspire and motivate students and they are the foundation in one's path and dreams. They keep working to boost the confidence of students and direct them in the right direction. They also dedicated to empowering their students and make the students better and more successful human beings.

Teachers should show mercy and compassion towards their students. Most importantly they should live in a moral and ethical way.

Teachers are the most important person in the world Why? Because without them there are no other profession in our society so they are the agent of change.

Conducting an observation is an honor and privilege for me and i can say that i am blessed to gave an opportunity to observe classes, because upon in my observation, I gained a lot of learnings that would surely helps me to grow and improve as a future teacher.

During my 3 days of observation, I've noticed my cooperating teacher always make sure a classroom environment is pleasant and conducive to learning. She made the room feel welcoming to the students. She placed plants, pillows, illustrations and posters around the classroom to make it more inviting. Also, the instructional materials and even chairs and tables are properly arranged and organized.

And when observing the class of Mrs. Wennie, I learned how to interact properly with the students which is lead to a pleasant classroom environment, I learned how to be an innovative teacher, I learned how to keep calm and control emotions even she is stress from the misbehavior of students. I learned how properly handle and manage students, I learned how to cater all types of learning styles of students as well as their learning needs, I learned the various teaching strategies and techniques that i will use in my future career in order to engage my students and facilitate their learning and I learned about the enjoyment of teaching and how to love it which is very important in every teacher and as well as to future teachers.

2. Comment on your observations about the assessment tools, classroom management, teachers' actuations/behavior/demeanor; relationship with fellow teachers, higher authorities, other school personnel; relationship with the students, their methodologies, strategies, relationship with the students' parents (if applicable);

Before starting the class, the students were given time to be prepared and fixed themselves. As soon as they are ready, they all stand to pray and greeted their teacher, classmates and us, their observers. Also Mrs. Wennie checked the attendance and she always remind the students in classroom rules.

The class will sing and dance for the energizer that will help the students increase their energy and to boost their interest in learning.

After the energizer, she immediately proceeded with the review of the previous topic by asking her students to test if they were able to understood the previous lesson.

After that, Mrs. Wennie gave a pre-test to test if the students have already background knowledge about the next topic. The students will be given a time frame and with in the time frame they need to finish the pre-test. Once they are done, they check their own answers. After the pre-test, she began to present the objectives to the class and she introduced the topic. Upon discussing the lesson, she gave a localized examples, at the same time she ask questions to test if the students are really listening. When the students want to recite or answer, she encourage them not to answer in chorus but they should raise their hands and do not make any noise such as sa "Madam, Madam Ako po".

I've noticed that Mrs. Wennie is very knowledgeable. She has methods on making the discussion easier for her students. So the students were very responsive because they fully understood the lesson.

When it comes to activity, She used a variety of techniques or methods such as collaborative learning, interactive learning, inquiry approach, brainstorming and other methods to make learning more engaging, Also to facilitate and enhance learning.

She is approachable, respectful so the students were not afraid to ask some questions about the activities they're doing. She builds rapport towards her students and other stakeholders. She never had to yell at the students for doing wrong or doing badly on work. She gave praise to the students for doing well.

With regards to the relationship with her fellow teachers, higher authorities and other school personnel, I can say it is so strong because I saw how they respect each other and how they interact or communicate with each other nicely and politely.

Also, I saw how strong the parent-teacher relationship. After the classes in the afternoon, students' parents were visit the teacher then they talked about how well the children in the class.

Through these days of observation, I have found that teaching is one of the most rewarding career. Not only you placed in the position of instructing and guiding children, but you are able to give back to the school and the community which truly supports you as a teacher. As a future teacher, I will put my heart in teaching because if I do really love teaching, it will helps me to be a very good and effective teacher someday.
